Art Fair Tokyo 2020

2020, a Landmark Year for Expanding the Japanese Art Market as the Global Market and Investment Opportunities Increases

Galleries Section Offers Chance to Buy Works by Famous Artists and Works for Over 1 Billion JPY

Ahead of the 2020 Tokyo Olympic and Paralympic Games, Art Fair Tokyo 2020, the 15th edition of the largest art fair in Japan, is held from Friday, March 20 to Sunday, March 22, 2020 (invitation-only preview on Thursday, March 19), showcasing 147 exhibitors from Japan and abroad. Amid the rapid expansion of the global art market and investment opportunities, Japan from its location in the most eastern part of Asia has always incorporated elements of international art and culture both geographically and historically, in the process developing its own unique art scene. Art Fair Tokyo has pioneered an art fair model bringing together everything from antiques to contemporary art. The 2020 fair will feature more than 3,000 exhibits, offering visitors the chance to view and purchase works by famous artists frequently presented at museums as well as premier artworks costing more than 1 billion JPY. As a year when Japan will experience incredible global exposure, 2020 is a landmark juncture for the art market in Japan. Held concurrently with Art Basel Hong Kong (Thursday, March 19–Saturday, March 21, 2020; invitation-only days: Tuesday, March 17 and Wednesday, March 18, 2020), the largest art fair in Asia, this week in March will attract attention from collectors and the art industry worldwide.

2020: A Landmark Year for Global Art Market, Art Fair, and Art Investment Opportunity Expansion

The global art market has reached $67.4 billion (approx. 7.58 trillion JPY), of which the worldwide art fair market has almost doubled from $8.5 billion in 2010 to $16.5 billion (approx. 1.85 trillion JPY) (data from the Art Basel and UBS Global Art Market Report 2019). Aggregate sales from gallery exhibitors at Art Fair Tokyo have continued to grow yearly since 2011. Sales at the previous edition of the fair in 2019 reached a record high of 2.97 billion JPY, representing a more than threefold increase in five years since the 2014 fair's 950 million JPY (data calculated by Art Tokyo Association). Given the jump in ultra-high-net-worth individuals' wealth associated with art and collectible wealth from $1.622 trillion in 2016 to $1.742 trillion (approx. 196 trillion JPY) in 2018, art's status as an asset continues to rise (data from the Deloitte Art & Finance Report 2019).

USD to JPY conversions are based on an official Ministry of Finance exchange rate of 1 USD to 112.43 JPY from December 30, 2018 until January 5, 2019.

Galleries Section: Featuring the Work of World-Famous Artists

The Galleries section of the fair features booths by art dealers and galleries where visitors can buy works, including those by famous artists familiar from museums exhibitions. The Sumisho Art Gallery booth, for instance, offers artworks for a wide range of prices such as a masterwork by Katsushika Hokusai and smaller pieces. MIZOE ART GALLERY, on the other hand, will present work for over 1 billion JPY, including an 1890 painting by Monet that was incredibly modern when it first appeared during the Impressionist movement. With the advance of globalization since the postwar era, the contemporary art market has helped greatly expand the overall international art market. Comprising 50.8% of the aggregate sales by exhibitors at the 2019 fair, modern and contemporary art continues to attract notice year by year.

At Art Fair Tokyo 2020, visitors to the Y GALLERY booth can see work by Chikuunsai Tanabe IV, who has recently garnered worldwide attention and whose elaborate and deft craftsmanship were displayed to the full at the exhibition "Japanese Bamboo Art: The Abbey Collection" (2017) at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. This press release also includes information on the main artists in the Galleries section as well as the venue layout.
